144 MHz "Sporadic E" Summary (http://www.mmmonvhf.de/es.php)

"Sporadic E" may be considered the most important ionospheric propagation mode in VHF dxing supporting long distance communication even with low power radio stations (read more at http://www.df5ai.net)
As well as in past years, also in 2008 there will be again an overview of the big "Sporadic E" openings on 144 MHz. We thank Steffen, DM2SR and Udo, DK5YA, for their fabulous work which have been done in the past years and also for the agreement to take the job now over to the VHF-DX-Portal Make More Miles on VHF. Responcable team member for these new section will be Frank, PA4EME, who will collect daily infos and spread these at our new Propagation Section: "ES"
http://www.mmmonvhf.de/es.php
Each logged in person is able to upload his Sporadic E Log here!
Later the opening will be viewed and comments around will be made.
As well an overview of past years openings will be available later on.
So please do welcome these new tool at MMMonVHF and hope there will be soon the first good Sporadic E openings to report about...
